About Mary Jane Ballou

Mary Jane has spent her life surrounded by music, joining her first choir at the age of three. Early piano studies culminated in conservatory training on that instrument as well as the organ. Along the way, there was time for the flute, recorders of all sizes, and the guitar.

Mary Jane has sung, taught and played, directed an assortment of choirs and chamber choruses over her 25 year career – and loved every minute of it!

While the harp came later, it was love at first sight. Her studies combined technique with the freedom to explore music from Bach to Broadway. Mary Jane has brought her music to weddings, receptions, dinners and business events with the professionalism that lets her clients relax and focus on their guests. Contact her today to make your event “extra-special” with a program tailored just for you.
